When the thoughtcrime message contains badspeak :(

Does this make me, the leader of the Glorious People's Republic of Santa Cruz, a thought criminal? :(

You have chosen to use degenerate words that may cause hurt

This is doubleplus bad. To correct your wrongthink and

"Do what I say, not what I do." —Gov. Cuomo

The list of badly behaving politicians is endless.

P.S. Excellent computer name. All my Macs are named after mathematicians, except my M1.

Wait, you're the leader of the GPRSC? I could've sworn that I was the leader...

Daniel Jose Perez 13 hours ago Wait, what are we thinking? It's obviously OUR GPRSC. Comrades make mistakes sometimes, I suppose.

Daniel Jose Perez 13 hours ago Luckily there are no enemies in the GPRSC!

(And if there are they will be dealt with swiftly)

Eric Hernandez 13 hours ago Hey that is my favorite time period in history, the pre ww2 to cold war. That picture of Nikolai getting removed makes its rounds in a lot of history textbooks when it talks about censorship

Darrell Long 13 hours ago It's still happening in the US. And even at some universities.

Eric Hernandez 13 hours ago Yeah, I've seen it at the university level. The one that hits me now is people trying to censor parts of human history because it hurts feelings. History sometimes hurts and that is a part of it that we have to accept in my opinion

Darrell Long 12 hours ago Careful my son, you may get canceled. But at the risk of igniting the ire of those who would rather pretend than remember, I agree with you. History is complicated, times change, what is acceptable and what is not changes, and we cannot project our values into the past. If we are wise, we can learn from it and do better.

Daniel Jose Perez 12 hours ago I feel like that's true too. There's no point in going back and removing the past. The thought of that alone seems extremely harmful and irresponsible.

Eric Hernandez 12 hours ago Stalin is very interesting, I mean, no one ever really talks about the damage that he did. I think the stories of how he let Lenin die to take the throne is one of my favorites

Darrell Long 12 hours ago Read "In the First Circle" by Solzhenitsyn. It won the Nobel in literature. It provides interesting insights into the character of Stalin.

Eric Hernandez 12 hours ago Yeah, one time in my AP History class I was tasked with designing the AP shirt and my teacher got mad at the fact that I put on the back "History is written by the victors" by Churchill because of his race. Like history def is written by the victors, I thought it was a quote that resonates with history.

Darrell Long 12 hours ago Sadly, too many teachers and professors spend their time indoctrinating rather than teaching. They're mostly Jacobins now.

Eric Hernandez 12 hours ago Definitely, most of my AP history professors tried censoring something or another especially when it came to colonization. I was thankful for my AP US history teacher because he gave it to us straight and how it was respectfully.
